WILL DISTRIBUTE SUBMARINE CONTRACTS TO DIFFERENT FIRMS

Washington, D. C., October 2—An analysis of the nine bids on submarines to the navy department yesterday was completed by experts today, but the tabulation of the figures contained in the bids will not be completed until later. Until they are completed it will be impossible for the chiefs of the various bureaus interested to make recommendations to Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy.

Gossip in the navy department today is that the awards will not be made for several weeks. That some of the awards will be made with the purpose of encouraging firms not now engaged in the construction of submarines to prepare their plants for that sort of work is conceded.

Both from an economic standpoint and that of the military interests of that of the United States it is said to be desirable that as many plants as possible be developed to manufacture submarines.

Later the navy department may take steps to equip the navy yards with facilities for building submarines, but it was said today that the indications at present are that this will not be done.

The conditions that have developed are asserted to be against this navy yard work, although it is possible that some of the obstacles that now exist will be eliminated later as the development of the submarine art progresses.

There are sixteen submarines to be constructed, and the opinion prevalent here is that the Electric Boat Company will be the recipient of the largest number of contracts. It also seems certain if surface conditions are accurate that the Union Iron Works of San Francisco will be entrusted with the task of building some of the boats. Other elements being favorable, the question of time will be a factor to assist that concern.

Naval authorities are anxious to see of the company can make good on its offer to construct 500-ton submarines in twelve months. It is stated that the reason why the company can make such a low bid is the fact that it has in stock most of the materials needed.

Both the New York Shipbuilding Company of Camden, N. J., and the Newport News Shipbuilding Company of Newport News, Va., will be in all probability entrusted with the task of building one or two boats. It being more than likely that each concern will construct two rather than one. Both concerns are understood to have acquired the patents to the so-called May-Denny submarine design. This design is from England and is said to be of a practicable character.

Both of these companies have built battleships but they have never ventured into the submarine field. Their bids were for one or two submarines at the limit of the authorized cost, $500,000, with deliveries in 24 and 25 months.

What consideration is to be given to the so-called "Jitney" submarine bidders could not be learned. There are some indications that the Lake Torpedo Boat Company will be given a part of the contract.

GOLF TEAM MATCH POSTPONED

The annual team match for the members of the Portsmouth Country Club which was to have been held this afternoon has been postponed until Saturday, October 9 when the same arrangements will be carried out.

The high school football team is to have new uniforms this fall. They are the latest type and are practically harnesses, well padded for the protection of the players. A football player of ten years ago would feel queer with so much protection.

GERMANS REENFORCE BULGARS

Balkan Situation the Gravest
Began.

(Special to The Herald)

London, October 2—All hope of preventing Bulgaria from going to war on the side of the Germans is rapidly being abandoned in official circles here. The entente powers are expected to send within 48 hours an ultimatum to Sofia demanding an open declaration of Bulgaria's intentions. A dispatch from Bukarest states that Germany is sending troops to Bulgaria to reinforce the Bulgar army. The Balkan situation has not been so grave since the war began. Preparations have been made to put an Anglo-French army in Serbia to oppose an advance of the Austro-German and Bulgarian forces towards the interior.

To State Department to Influence
British Government to Take Cases From Prize
Courts.

Washington, October 2—The Chicago packers through their attorneys Henry Veeder and O. C. Paulkner, today appealed to the state department to make representations to the British government to take their cases, whereby $12,500,000 worth of meat cargoes are confiscated, out of the jurisdiction of the prize courts. Acting Secretary of State Polk and Assistant Counselor Anderson listened to their pleas but gave them no answer. Mr. Polk said he would take their request under consideration.

BURNING TUG STORY NOT CONFIRMED

Considerable excitement was occasioned along the coast last evening over the reported burning and sinking of an ocean tug off Boone Island. The report came from Wells, Me. and stated that a tug with three barges in tow had been burning and sinking and later blew up and sank, leaving the three barges afloat.

The story was received at this office late in the evening from Wells and was reported that it had been plainly seen by some women from the shore. Efforts were made to ascertain the facts of the case but all inquiries failed to confirm the story. Hon. H. A. Yeaton, manager of the Piscataqua Navigation Company, stated that the company had no knowledge of the sinking and the same was reported by Superintendent Sands of the First District Coast Guards. Shipping offices in Portland were ignorant of the sinking of any tug and shipping circles in Boston had no reports of any missing tugs. The wireless stations along the

English and French Troops Now Within Striking Distance of Lens---Teutons Harrassed By Airmen in Bringing Up Reserves

Paris, October 2—After allowing the Germans to exhaust themselves in counterattacks, the Allies have begun a fresh series of assaults south of Ypres, between the La Bassée canal and Arras and in the Champagne region the British and French are now within striking distance of the Germans defending the railroad town of Lens. Following a lull in the storm, that have been sweeping the Vosges mountains, hard fighting has broken out in upper Alsace. Fierce trench fighting is raging in the Artois and along the Champagne and Argonne front. More than 3,000,000 shells have been hurled in the past week. French and British aviators have damaged many of the railways behind the German lines and the Teutons are finding difficulty in shipping fresh troops to the front.

"BOHEMIAN GIRL" MAKES A HIT AT DOVER

Audience Delighted With Aborn Opera Company Presentation.

The mammoth spectacular revival of "The Bohemian Girl," presented by the Aborn Opera Company, was the offering of Manager Charles E. King at the City Opera House last evening. With the old version of Balfe's masterpiece many are familiar, but it was revived several seasons ago and is vastly different and greatly improved presentation of the grand old opera.

From the musical standpoint Balfe's work has not been changed but otherwise it is entirely new. The scenic features comprise six massive and beautiful scenes among which are Count Arnelin's chateau in the mountains, a gypsy camp and the marble halls. To the first act they have given a climax that shows a wild rush of horsemen up a tortuous path, while in the second act, the Gypsy camp is made real through the introduction of a band of genuine gypsies, horses, pigs and chickens.

The fair scene is intervened by clowns, jugglers and the great Tzigani troupe of whirlwind acrobats. In the third act there is a notable change in the introduction of a corps de ballet in "The Dance of the Hours." The costumes and electrical effects are elaborate.

The production if anything was better than its first appearance here on Oct. 25, 1913. Among the principals that appeared here two years ago were the following who were with the company last evening: George W. Dunstan, Henry Taylor, Francis Taylor and Miss Edith Allen. The work of the Tzigani troupe of whirlwind acrobats in the fair scene in the second act was the most marvelous performance ever witnessed on the boards of the local theatre. There was a continuous storm of applause while they occupied the stage and when they completed their clever work the applause was long and hearty. They were recalled several times. The solo, "I Dreamt I Dwell in Marble Halls," was artistically rendered by Miss Edith Allen. She has a very sweet voice and most charming personality and her work was a source of great pleasure to all.

The solos, "Then You Will Remember Me," "The Heart Bowed Down," and "Gloss Forever Past," were all rendered in a charming manner. George W. Dunstan, Henry Taylor, Francis Taylor and Miss Mildred Rogers rendered their solos in an artistic manner, each meeting with much popular favor, choruses being numerous and hearty. The chorus was tuneful and added much to the production. —Dover Democrat.

BOSTON LETTER

Boston, October 2.—September, 1915, weather bureau as the warmest in the history of the department. Not only was it the hottest month of the year, but the precipitation of rain was two and a half inches less than any normal month of September during the last 21 years or since the establishment of the Boston weather bureau. No direct reason for the sweltering months can be advanced by the weather experts. The highest temperature was reached on Sept. 15 when the thermometer registered 91, and rose to that point on the following day. The minimum degree that the mercury reached on those days was 73. Less than two weeks later on Sept. 27, the thermometer failed to go higher than 50 degrees which was the lowest maximum point of any day in the month. On the following day, the coolest day of the month was experienced, when the quicksilver dropped as low as 41 degrees. The mean temperature for the entire month was 67, four degrees higher than any normal month of September on record.

Chairman George W. Field of the Fish and Game Commission, has sent out a statement urging upon citizens of Massachusetts the necessity of cooperation in the enforcement of the law prohibiting the possession of firearms by aliens without license. The opening of the shooting season, the board says always occasions a number of violations of the law. "The commission of fisheries and game and their deputies," the statement says, "are desirous of cooperating with the police departments of every city and town in the commonwealth to found up all such firearms in the possession of unqualified foreign born residents contrary to law."

A car storage and storage system, as a solution of the problem of adequate terminal facilities in Boston, was advocated by Chairman McLeod of the public service commission before the Boston terminal commission at the state house for financial considerations. Chairman McLeod stated that the financial expenditures were the all important consideration, for past plans had largely been rejected on account of the large expenditures involved. He further declared that it was questionable whether the industry would be better served by the expenditure of some $25,000,000 for terminals or for improvements like more tracks and better yards at certain points on the present system.

A protest on the milk rates of the Boston and Maine railroad has been forwarded to the interstate commerce commission by Corporation Counsel John A. Sullivan. The protest, which was filed on behalf of the City of Boston, asks for a suspension of the rates and a thorough investigation of the whole matter in order, according to Mayor Curley, that the citizens of Massachusetts and Boston, will not have to pay ten cents a quart for milk.

LIFE MADE HELL BY BIG ROOSTER

Portland, Oregon, October 1.—Strange what does one poor, harmless little chicken—the feather species—excuse. Mayor Allen is in receipt of a letter from Charles H. Robbins, of 723 East Fourteenth street, relating a long, painful tale of five months' struggle to get rid of the crowing of a badly-lunged rooster owned by neighbor. He appeals to the mayor to invoke the police power of the city to choke off the racket.

The complainant says the rooster taken a five hour shift every morning and makes life miserable. "I have pulled cotton out of the mattress," he says "and plugged my ears and have shut down all the windows to deaden the sound, but the bird goes on and I cannot sleep. Life is hell. They keep him in a box that is open in front and acts as a fine soundboard."

This afternoon the Portsmouth football team under command of Captain Pliginsk will meet the Marines.

GREAT PRODUCTION SCORED SUCCESS AT THE "PORTSMOUTH"

HENRY W. SAVAGE'S "EVERY WOMAN" APPRECIATED BY BIG AUDIENCE LAST EVENING.

"Great." That was the verdict of all those present at the Portsmouth Theatre last evening after seeing Henry W. Savage's production of "Everywoman," with its great cast, was one of the finest dramatic musical productions that has played on the American stage for years.

The play is a dramatic mixture of allegory and poetry, the story that is as old as the world. It is the story of every woman, seeking love and finding it only after years of wandering, suffering, trials and disappointments.

The woman in the play was known throughout the five acts as "Everywoman" and throughout the action of the piece actually represented the life of all women.

The Story
Everywoman seeks love as the greatest treasure life possesses. She leaves her home in her youth and blossoming beauty and goes out into the by-ways of the world as many another woman has done. She seeks love through passion, through wealth, through society, but finds in each case only a shoddy pretense, an alloy which mocks her first pure purpose, and when her soul is bruised upon the rocks of solid, ugly facts she is led back by Truth, ugly old Truth, whom in her youth she despised and shrunk from, to find Love in peasant garb at last waiting for her at her hearthstone. Every character in the play was symbolic of some abstract virtue or vice or condition with relation to the life of woman.

One of the strongest parts played was the character, "Nebuchadnezzar." This was played by George Hyndham and called for the greatest of dramatic powers. His work was admirable throughout.

The title role was portrayed by Emma Porter in a wonderful manner. Miss Porter's work left nothing to be desired. The work of Old Misses O'Brien, Mollman, Simpson and Durkin as "Youth," "Beauty," "Modesty" and "Conscience" was also very fine.

The scenery and lighting effects together with the fine music made up one of the best shows Portsmouth has ever seen.

FRENCH CONTINUE FORWARD DRIVE

Great Battle Under Way in District of Artois--More German Trenches Taken--City of Lens Ob-jective Point

London, Oct. 1.—The French took another step towards Lens when they carried more German trenches south-west of the city. Success here was won by means of hand grenade attacks according to today's statement by the Paris War Office. In the Champagne district, where the French have made notable advances since last Saturday, German counter-attacks were checked near Malsous de Champagne. A violent bombardment of French trenches north of the Aisne, near Soupir, is reported, the Germans, however, making no infantry attack.

Petrograd says that a German move toward Riga was frustrated and that the Russians also are holding up Von Hindenburg's operations against Dyvinsk. In Volhynia the Russians are fighting hard, but so far unsuccessfully, to regain possession of the fortress of Lutsk.

French Gain in Artois
Paris, Oct. 1.—In the great battle in the Artois district the French have made further progress, by means of attacks with hand grenades on German trenches. Announcement to this effect was made today by the war office. In the Champagne a German counter attack near Malsous de Champagne was checked. The Germans violently bombarded French trenches near Soupir, north of the Aisne, but made no infantry attack. The text follows:

"In the Artois district we have made progress by the use of hand grenades in the trenches and underground passages east and southeast of Neuville. Two German counter attacks have been delivered, one against a fort which we conquered yesterday in the forest of Glenohy; the other against the trenches south of Hill 119, where French troops had installed themselves. Each one of the attacks was conclusively repulsed.

"To the north of the Aisne, near Soupir, the enemy conducted a violent demonstration against our trenches. The firing of their artillery and their infantry was not followed by an infantry attack.

"In the Champagne district our fire put a definite check to a German counter attack in the vicinity of Malsous de Champagne.

"The number of prisoners made yesterday evening during our advance to the north of Malsous in 250, including six officers."

French Gain and Loss

A further gain of ground in Champagne north of Mesnil was recorded in the French official communication last night, which adds that on the Champagne front alone since Sept. 25 field guns and heavy pieces to the number of 121 have been captured by the French. The statement says also that by a counter-attack the Germans succeeded in regaining a footing in the works known as the "ouvrage de la dette," a portion of which the French had taken. The text follows:

"In Belgium our heavy artillery has supported the action of the British fleet against the batteries along the coast.

"No important action occurred in Artois. The enemy has shown some activity near Armentières. In the environs of Roye a strong reconnaissance was dispersed by our fire.

"Before Beuvrages we exploded several mines which shattered the German trenches.

"In Champagne we have gained ground north of Mesnil and more to the east between Hill No. 150, north of Massiges, and the road from Ville-sur-Tourbe to Cernayon-Dermois; at the latter point we have taken additional prisoners.

"By a counter attack the enemy succeeded in recovering a footing in the ouvrage de la dette. A second counter attack very violent in character, in the same section was completely repulsed. The enemy has suffered important losses.

"The clearing of the former German positions has permitted a more complete computation of the cannon captured. Their number is much greater than was previously announced. The total of field guns and heavy pieces captured from the enemy since Sept. 25 on the Champagne front alone has reached 121.

"A flotilla of aeroplanes today dropped 72 bombs on the station at Guignicourt. The bombardment appeared to be very efficacious. The aeroplanes, though violently cannonaded, returned in safety to their base."

The Belgian official communication reads:

"There has been intermittent cannonading at divers points on the front. Ramskapelle, Caeskerke and Hemlinghe were bombarded."

Stab At Riga Parried

Petrograd, Oct. 1.—The following communication was issued Thursday:

"The Germans have made insignificant attempts at an offensive on the front in the region of Riga. Germans who tried to establish themselves on the eastern bank of the brook in the region of Kemmern were driven back to the other bank. The Germans also attacked the cemetery near the village of Vetrose, northwest of Ilshalen, but were hurled back.

"Near Dyvinsk nothing of importance has occurred. The offensive of enemy infantry south of Lake Drislata has been stopped by our cavalry charge.

"On the front south of Lake Boguski several actions have turned to our advantage and at many points our troops advanced slightly westward.

"In the region of the village of Gumbel, south of Lake Scharote, the enemy was thrown back by a vigorous stroke on our part and retired in disorder.

"An encounter near the village of Panwuchero, on the Viliya below

Smogen, terminated in our favor and the enemy unsuccessfully attempted to pass to the offensive.

"On the front of Kiewo-Krochne, northwest of Baranovichi, the upper Charna and the Oginski Canal there were numerous local engagements but no important change in the general situation.

"In the middle Styria region near Traupsk and Koki fighting continues. The enemy has been dislodged from the village of Koulkovitely on the Styria above Claretisk.

"We have recaptured the village of Koshichetche, east of Koki, taking as prisoners five officers and a hundred men.

Fighting in Ice and Snow

Rome, Oct. 1.—The following statement from general headquarters, covering the operations of Sept. 30 was issued last night:

"In the zone from Stelvio to Crevin our troops continue an active offensive in the midst of ice and snow and are gradually clearing small enemy detachments from the region and quelling the interference of distant artillery.

"On the upper Cordevole the action of the artillery on either side has become more active in the past few days. Our artillery yesterday shelled an enemy column near Stief, which scattered abandoning a large part of its convoys.

"In Carnia and Plezzo basin there have been frequent minor engagements in the course of which we have captured several enemy patrols. The number of prisoners taken in the fighting on the night of Sept. 28-29 in the Tolino section was eighty-eight, two of whom were officers.

"An enemy aeroplane dropped two bombs on Porto Ruso. No damage was done. One of our aeroplanes was shot down with apparent effectiveness, several places around Carso, where it is reported the headquarters of the Austrian high commands are installed."

King Victor Emmanuel has signed a decree making Vice Admiral Canillo Corso, former director-general of the Ministry of Marine, Minister of Marine. He will succeed Vice Admiral Leone Viale, who resigned recently. The resignation of Admiral Viale was attributed to ill health.

Roumania Still "Neutral"

Berlin, by wireless to Sayville, N. Y., Oct. 1.—The Overseas News Agency sends out the following among its despatches:

"Special reports from Bucharest say that at the opening of the new club house of the Conservative party Alexander Marghiloman, the president and leader of the Conservatives. In a speech declared that the only attitude for Roumania was one of neutrality, as decided upon by the crown council.

"Those who are in favor of Russian policy forget that not only to the west and north, but also to the east, Roumanians are living," said Mr. Marghiloman. "We must consider the possibilities, not sentimental reasons. The Government will not change its attitude. I consider Roumania free from obligations. Public opinion agrees with the political views of the Conservative party, which, quietly availing itself of the country's enlargement."

DEPARTMENT PLANS TWO-GUN SHIPS

Navy's Idea of Present War Lesson is Fast Scout Cruisers With Great Rifles.

Washington, Oct. 1.—A new type of warship, which, it is hoped, will fill the place of battle cruisers, has been under consideration by the Navy Department almost a year, and is likely to find a place in the recommendations to be submitted to Congress this fall. These ships are expected to give the United States an advantage over any foreign foe. The new vessels would be comparatively small, and unarmored, but with a speed of thirty-five knots, and would carry probably two of the most powerful naval guns known. Their cost would be a third of that of a battle cruiser, and their complement of men about in proportion. The price of a squadron of four battle cruisers would give the navy a dozen of the new vessels, which, while introducing a new feature into warfare, would revolutionize the tactics of cruiser fighting. The battle cruiser of today is a modification of the battleship, faster and its armament almost equal, but far less able to withstand hard knocks.

The new ships would make no pretence of resisting hard fighting. Their function would be to hit and run. Their speed would be depended on as their best defence, whether they were in touch with a force too strong to be attacked or were engaged with vessels of about their own power. Their speed would make them immune to attack by submarines or destroyers, and they would be difficult targets for the best marksmen. If they elected to fight, the hitting power of their guns would be as great as that of those on the most powerful battleships, and the range would enable them to stand off at a safe distance and batter to pieces any ships with guns equal to their own. This combination of powers is believed to embody the lessons of the present war.

The chief objection to this plan of mounting only one or two heavy guns to a ship is that at a given cost greater gun power can be brought into battle by putting a larger number of cannon on a single vessel. This the navy experts admit, but point out as advantages for their plan that except in actual battle their flotilla of vessels would be far more useful, whether in running down enemy cruisers, in scouting, or in raiding commerce. As to actual fighting, they argue that the advantage would be with America, since it would be necessary for the enemy to put out of action three American vessels to accomplish as much as could be done by a single well placed hit on an enemy battle cruiser. Further the enemy's fire would have to be parcelled out to three vessels, while the Americans could concentrate on one.

EDISON STATES IDEA OF ADVISORY BOARD

Washington, Oct. 1.—America has seemingly invented an altogether false notion of the objects and operations of the new naval consulting board of engineering specialists which has been formed to help Secretary Daniels and the Navy Department to further offensive and defensive inventions, according to Thomas A. Edison. Mr. Edison made it clear yesterday that neither he nor the other board members, of whom Mr. Edison is a way of speaking, is the dean, has "anything to do with making new inventions whatsoever."

"America invented the great things of war," said Mr. Edison. "But our navy is so organized that when inventions such as the submarines and others of great importance were brought to the Department's attention it turned them down. Congress never supplied it with funds for sufficient research work, and so it's turned down practically everything."

"Now as for my notion in the public mind that the consulting board of engineering experts has been organized to tell the navy it's all wrong, or has been assembled to turn out astonishing weapons of offence or defence, that's all bosh. The board consists at present of twenty-three engineering experts, not hand-picked by the Secretary of the Navy or any other individual, but chosen by the popular vote of the various engineering societies of which they are prominent members, and their duties will be not to tell the navy how to conduct its business, but to tell the Navy Department our own or the inventions of others. The board has nothing to do with inventing, as such, whatever it is merely a consulting body to which, if the department wishes, any new idea submitted to the navy from any source may be submitted for an expert opinion as to whether the idea has merit enough to warrant further experimentation and research."

"The members of the board are not organized to suggest such ideas to the department as experts merely to say 'yes' or 'no' regarding the worth of ideas submitted by others. If an individual any member should happen to have an idea of his own to suggest, such invention would have to be submitted to the department through the regular channels, just as any man in the country would offer his invention to the navy for consideration by the department."

Mr. Edison called attention to the fact that the organization of the board of experts is in no way an implication that the navy is lacking in Annapolitanized experts of its own. It is Mr. Edison's idea, however, that the board, including as it does scientific specialists of international fame, can lend invaluable aid to the department, because of the life work, the members have given, each to a specialty, to research work and development and laboratory surroundings and equipment not always available in the general research work of the navy. Graduates of Annapolis it was pointed out are among the twenty-three on the board.

Mr. Edison believes that the appointment first of all of a rear admiral of Retained—License for sale of real property, estate of Mary H. Folsom, Newmarket.

the proper scientific calibre as a naval head of the work in hand would go far toward facilitating the organization and operation of the new work of research and development which the Secretary of the Navy and the board have in mind. Surrounding this naval head, according to Mr. Edison's idea, should be a staff of naval officers, each one a specialist in his work. Then if a navy man or civilian should suggest a new idea for defence or offence, the idea, if Mr. Edison's suggestions for procedure are adopted, would be turned over to the naval head, who would submit it to the member of his staff of naval officers best fitted to pass upon the idea.

"The whole idea of the consulting board," Mr. Edison concluded, "is so sane and so simple that I don't see how any misconceptions concerning it could have arisen. We're not inventing and we're not even going to develop inventive ideas submitted. Navy men or civilians will offer the ideas to the navy, the navy will look into them and the navy will—if Congress appropriates the money for laboratory and other equipment now needed—develop and try out and adopt inventions of merit. In between however, the civilian board members, who in addition to their own knowledge have the knowledge of the 60,000 or so engineers whom they represent to call upon also, will give expert advice to the navy whenever the navy desires it."

GUNNERS MUST KNOW

FEDERAL BIRD LAW

The gunners in this section who have been in the habit of shooting shore birds, will find themselves in bad, unless they become familiar with the new federal migratory bird law, which is now in force.

That the government intends to enforce the law is evident from the presence here of F. W. Hennessey of Providence, R. I., the inspector for New England. He came here on Thursday and early Friday morning was along the coast looking for violators of the law. He found about twenty odd gunners out, and while he found no violation, it was not the fault of the gunners, for only one or two knew anything about the federal law. He found all of the gunners willing to comply with any law that would help out the sport.

There had been a complaint made that the law was persistently violated in this section, and Mr. Hennessey made it plain that offenders hereafter would be prosecuted. Night shooting is especially prohibited, and those gunners who have in the past, taken advantage of a full moon to get the birds will find themselves out of luck if they take any chances.

The inspector visited Great Bay and issued the same warning to the gunners in that section.

There are very few of the migratory birds flying yet, as the weather has not been cool enough to start them south.

CLAIMS HE WAS NOT INTOXICATED

The second trial of Leo P. Maloney, a Rochester chauffeur, formerly of Greenfield, Mass., on the charge of manslaughter in running down and killing Harry Tuttle on the Dover Pt. road, September 22, 1914, while operating the automobile of Roy, Charles S. Lacroix of Rochester, had reached the argument at adjournment of supreme court at Dover last evening.

The state presented testimony to the effect that Tuttle was struck by the car Maloney was driving while walking on the grass beside the road, Maloney turning off the automobile of Ex-Alderman Charles E. Burnham of Dover. According to eye-witnesses the Lacroix car was coming toward Dover from Portsmouth at high speed. Tuttle was thrown into the air, falling onto the hood of the machine and was carried several yards before he slid off. The car jumped across the road ahead of the Burnham car and stopped against a fence post, which smashed the headlight. Before Tuttle was hit the car grazed a walnut tree, witnesses said.

Witnesses claimed Maloney said after the accident, "Gee whiz! I must have been going 30 miles an hour."

The three occupants of the Burnham car, also Mrs. Marjorie C. Henson and Mrs. Lillian C. Clarke, both of New Boston, testified to seeing the accident.

Maloney in his own defense told of drinking three glasses of beer that afternoon, but denied he was intoxicated. He admitted having exclaimed the speed he was travelling, as stated by the prosecution's witnesses, but declared it was a mistake, as he was not driving more than 15 miles an hour when he passed the Burnham car. He said that Tuttle was not in danger until he turned and jumped in front of the car. Several testified in Maloney's behalf.

HAVE IT IN PORTSMOUTH

It is not unlikely that New Hampshire will have a "Plattsburgh camp" all its own next year, entirely confined to New Hampshire men. This is one of the suggestions of the Defense League and is likely to be adopted in a good many other states other than New Hampshire.

RELEASED FROM CUSTODY.

Washington, October 2.—General Mayororana and his staff has been released from the custody of the United States authorities at Nogales, Arizona, and will proceed at once to Washington. He was governor of Sonora, Mexico and was one of Villa's chief supporters. He will present his credentials to Secretary Lansing and the Latin-American envoys.

Crescent Club the Guests of Miss Sawyer at Rye.

Miss Mildred Sawyer of Rye was happily surprised on Friday evening when fourteen members of the Crescent Club invaded her home to pass the evening. During the gathering Miss Sawyer was presented with a large Wallace Kutting picture. The presentation was made by Mrs. Annie Fritz in a very appropriate address, to which Miss Sawyer responded most feelingly. A repast was served and a musical program added another pleasing feature to the occasion.

Miss Sawyer, who has been a member of the club for several years will be united in marriage on October 14.

POULTRYMEN'S MEETING.

A meeting of the poultry fanciers was held at the Board of Trade rooms on Friday evening, but as there had been a misunderstanding about the date it was postponed until Tuesday evening.

There is considerable interest here in the formation of an association, and it is expected that the organization will be perfected at the Tuesday evening meeting.

There are few cities where there is a better class of poultry than here. At the poultry show, last winter and at the fair in September the display of show birds was exceptionally good.

Snow fell at Newburyport Friday evening, so they say, but all Portsmouth gets is rain—and then some more.

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

If cross, feverish or bilious give "California Syrup of Figs."

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out of sorts, listless, can't rest, eating and acting naturally—look! Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mother can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

"THE BOHEMIAN GIRL"

At the Portsmouth Theatre on Monday the Aborn Opera Company will be seen in its much talked of Parisian version of Raffae's greatest work "The Bohemian Girl." That music lovers and theatregoers generally approve of the innovations introduced by Miltott and Sargent Aborn in their highly respectable revival of this favorite old opera is best attested to by the rounds of applause that are nightly bestowed on them. Newspaper writers, wherever the opera in its present form has been given are loud in their praise of the Messrs Aborn's enterprise. To those who have only seen Raffae's work in its old form it would seem entirely out of place to introduce a troupe of acrobats, horses, geese, monkeys, dogs, chickens, etc., and still those who have seen both the old and the Aborn modern version have wondered why these seemingly incongruities have not always been parts of "The Bohemian Girl," so consistently do they fit. A specially selected cast, orchestra and ballet and immense chorus combine to make this one of the most important organizations on tour. The cast includes Henry Taylor, Mildred Rogers, George Dunstan, Francis Fyler, Ralph Nichols, Edith Allan.

MILL OWNER CONDEMNS CHILD LABOR

New York, Oct. 1.—"We need a national law that will keep all children in school until they are 15," Mr. D. H. Warner, one of the largest manufacturers in Connecticut, told a representative of the National Child Labor Committee the other day. Mr. Warner is the head of the Warner Bros. Corset Co., of Bridgeport who recently put his 4,000 employees on a 48-hour week to operate 55 hours a week.

"The manufacturer who employs children of 14 or 15 does not benefit himself because children are not good workers; he does not benefit the community because he harms the child, and it is the good of the community, not the individual manufacturer, that must be considered in this question of child labor."

"I never employ children under 16 if I can get older workers because I consider the years between 14 and 16 the most impressionable ones of a child's life and I know that the factory influence is a bad one; no matter how careful the employer may be. These years should be spent in school and in the open, not in the factory where physical, mental, moral and financial growth is stunted. If we must have men with a college education in the executive positions, it is equally necessary to have a proportionate amount of training throughout the entire force. I find it extremely difficult to get intelligent girls for responsible positions. I have tried to train them, but their lack of education makes it impossible for them to go beyond a certain point."

"It is true, of course, that poverty makes it necessary for some children to go to work before they are 16. I think it might be advisable to permit exemptions to the 16-year limit for such children who are over 14 and are declared physically fit for work by a physician. Cases of actual poverty are not very numerous, however. Many children are sent to work because their parents are not poor but avareicious."

BAPTISM INTO CHRIST—WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

Only Spirit-Begotten Can Comprehend Spiritual Things.

Each Must Make His Own Calling and Election Sure—Baptism into Christ's Death (Not Complete Until Life's Close)—Results of Spiritual Illumination—Membership in Christ's Body, Counting All Earthly Things but Loss.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 20.—Pastor Russell delivered a very happy discourse here today from the text "By one Spirit we are all baptized into one Body."—1 Corinthians 12:13. The speaker showed that true Christians are doubly blessed; first, by possessing the hearing ear; and secondly, by having the Divine favor in that God has made all the arrangements whereby they might receive the begetting of the Holy Spirit. Each one must make his own calling and election sure. God does His part in leading and in making up for all blessings, through Christ. The primary qualification that God requires is heart loyalty. True Christians have this loyalty at the beginning, and must maintain it throughout their course, if they would make their calling and election sure.

While it is a good thing to say, "I have made a full consecration to God," yet that consecration must continue. The same spirit, that led one to consecrate himself must, remain until the completion of his baptism. The speaker demonstrated that baptism is not complete when one takes the step of entire consecration. He cited our Lord's case. When Jesus drew near the close of His ministry, three and a half years after His baptism in Jordan, He said, "I have a baptism to be baptized with, and how am I straitened until it be accomplished?" (Luke 12:50). On the following day it was completed, on the Cross. He exclaimed, "It is finished!" So the baptism of the true Christian will be finished only in death.

"Heavens Were Opened unto Him." The pastor next discussed the illumination of mind which accompanies the begetting of the Holy Spirit. After Jesus had been baptized of John, the Holy Spirit descended upon Him like a dove, "and the heavens were opened unto Him." That is, the entire Old Testament opened up to His understanding as never before, immediately after this, His mind being active. He was driven into the wilderness by His own spirit, to think over these things obscure Scriptures; and there He had a forty-day Bible study. During that period He apparently did not even become hungry.

Doubtless one of the subjects about which He thought was the Passover. What did it mean? Who was passed over? Whom did the lamb typify? What did the coming out from Egypt prefigure? What the overthrow of Pharaoh and his hosts? What the giving of the Law at Mount Sinai, the wilderness journey, the entrance into Canaan? (1 Corinthians 10:1-13). We would not have known these things had not the Holy Spirit through the Apostles shown them. Until Jesus was spirit-begotten, He understood not these wonderful types.

Doubtless He also thought on the Passions and the prophecies. He saw that He was to be the antitypical Passover Lamb (Isaiah 53:7); that He was to let evil men into His life from Him and was not to interpose, not even ask God to hinder them. Doubtless He considered the typical Atonement Day—the bullock, the lamb, the goat, the scape goat, the burning of the fat, etc., upon the brazen altar, the sprinkling of the blood within the Most Holy, the burning of the carcass without the camp, etc. Then He saw that these types were to be fulfilled in Himself and His followers.—John 21:27; Heb. 13:11-13.

The Church Following His Steps. The remainder of the discourse explained how the Church throughout the Gospel Age has followed her Redeemer. To each consecrated Christian is imputed whatever per cent. of Christ's merit is needed to make up whatever each lacks of perfection, such as Adam had before he fell. The one having but ten per cent. needs that the Lord supply ninety per cent. The one having thirty-five per cent. needs sixty-five per cent. Where the greater is the need, there so much more should be.—Romans 5:10-21.

The word Christ was shown to be not merely a personal name, but the name of an Office. Jesus is the Head of the Church; the Church is the Body. St. Paul knew that to gain membership in the Body of Christ he must give up everything. But he counted all earthly interests but loss and dross compared with winning a place in the Church.—Philippians 3:11.

St. Paul's hope was to attain to the first resurrection. The Body of Christ was to share the same resurrection, that Jesus had. The Apostle mentions the terms: "That I might know Him and the power of His resurrection, and the fellowship of His sufferings, being conformed unto His death." The Church, having been redeemed from the Adamic death penalty, and are dying voluntarily with Jesus, having given up all earthly interests, to share His nature and His glory.

Manchester, Oct. 1.—An affray in which a knife was used by George Mararas upon George Kontakakis in an ugly manner, the knife blade being buried in the latter's back, near the left shoulder, and also near the left eye, took place this morning. The wounded man is now at the Sacred Heart hospital, where he was taken by Sergeant Robitaille and Driver Moody of the police department, and where he will of necessity be confined for some days at least.

George Kontakakis, the wounded man, is the proprietor of a restaurant at 65 Spruce street, and, in company with Spyros Tsleas and George Mararas, is also in the restaurant business, his eating house being at 15 Spruce street.

The two men met this morning in the big refrigerator of Armour & Company, on Franklin street, and had a quarrel, although just what started the affair is not known. The two men were put out of the place and into the street, where the quarrel was renewed with great fierceness, and Mararas is then said to have made an assault with a knife, inflicting two wounds upon Kontakakis. The latter, as already stated, was taken to the Sacred Heart hospital, and Mararas was placed under arrest, charged with assault, and locked up.

official confirmation was lacking. In the batch, however, were letters from Count Bernstorff introducing Mr. Archibald. There is nothing, as far as officials would disclose, which indicated that the German ambassador had violated diplomatic proprieties.

The state department's description of the correspondence is as follows: "Memorandum of the German ambassador containing his defense made to Secretary Lansing of reported activity of the embassy officials in violation of American neutrality."

"The unsigned memorandum from 'A Bulgarian Editor' suggesting means of interfering with American industry."

"Captain Von Papen to the German war office, mentioning the Bridgeport Arms company, already made public."

"Captain Von Papen to the German war office, mentioning the purchase of tulul."

"Captain Von Papen to his wife, in which he refers to 'Idiotic Yankees.'"

"Captain Von Papen to the German war office on matters of routine."

"Three cipher letters, two to the German and one to the Austrian government."

"Austrian ambassador to his foreign office, criticizing the president and discussing the inadvisability of continuing protests of the shipments of war munitions to the allies."

"Austro-Hungarian Consul Schwengel at St. Louis reporting a conversation with Mr. Mosker, representative of Chicago packers."

"Count Von Bernstorff to James F. J. Archibald."

"Four letters from Count Von Bernstorff introducing Archibald."

pledged for the 1915 jubilee fund. This

Now for the fall rains. If you haven't a raincoat it's time to think of one. As usual we've a good display of them. All the new "ideas" as well as the old. Regular raincoats—just raincoats, that's all; and overcoats, fall weight, that are rainproofed.Henry Peyser & Son
